

General University Policies

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

It is the policy of the University to employ qualified persons of the highest caliber without discrimination against any person because of race, sex, age, religion, national origin, disability, marital status, sexual orientation or other category protected by applicable law, except where a bona fide occupational qualification exists under applicable law or regulation.

Non-Discrimination Policy

Carroll University does not discriminate in any manner contrary to law or justice on the basis of race, color, sex, age, religion, sexual orientation, national origin, disability or veteran's status in administration of its educational, admission, financial aid, athletic or other University policies and programs nor in the employment of its faculty and staff.

The following person has been designated to handle inquiries regarding this policy:

Lorraine Forcinito
Director of Human Resources
262-524-7124
lforcini@carrollu.edu

For further information on this institution's obligation of non-discrimination, visit <http://wdcrobcop01.ed.gov/CFAPPS/OCR/contactus.cfm> for the address and phone number of the office that serves your area, or call 1-800-421-3481.

Harassment Policy

Carroll University attempts to provide an environment free from all forms of harassment or intimidation based on race, sex, age, religion, national origin, disability, marital status, sexual orientation or other category protected by applicable law. This Policy is in keeping with efforts to establish a work environment and academic environment in which the dignity and worth of all members of the institutional community are respected. Accordingly, harassment of students, faculty and staff at Carroll University is unacceptable conduct and will not be tolerated.

Harassment may occur whenever unwelcome conduct, comments, touching, teasing, joking or intimidation based on any of these bases interferes with work or creates an intimidating, hostile or offensive environment. Unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal, visual or physical conduct of a sexual nature are serious violations of this Policy and are also prohibited. Harassment also occurs whenever submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or a condition of an individual's employment, or whenever submission to or rejection of such conduct is used as the basis for employment decisions.

The University recognizes that harassment or accusations of prohibited harassment are serious and may have substantial impact on the career and lives of the parties involved. Therefore, confidentiality shall be maintained during any investigation, conciliation or other process. Any employee who violates this Policy will be subject to corrective action, which may include discipline up to and including discharge.

We are aware that conduct, comments or behavior which might be offensive to some individuals might be considered inoffensive to others. Because of this, it may be difficult for the University to learn of and take effective action to halt harassment unless the affected individual alerts University representatives both to the occurrence and the fact that the conduct in question is offensive or unwanted.

You are not required to approach the harasser or any other specific individual. This Policy will not be effective, however, without the cooperation of all members of the institutional community. Any individual who believes that he/she has been subject to harassment has the duty to promptly bring this fact to the attention of the University in accordance with the following procedures:

- Informal Process: Employees who believe that they have been the victims of harassment should contact the Director of Human Resources. First efforts in response to a complaint shall be made informally by the director working with the appropriate University personnel. Every effort shall be made to assure the privacy of the complainants and those accused of discriminatory practice.
- Formal Process: In the event that informal attempts at mediation prove unsatisfactory, the complaint shall be referred to the appropriate university existing judicial body for consideration. Cases heard in such a forum shall be handled according to existing practices and procedures.

If an investigation reveals that harassment has occurred, the University will take immediate and appropriate corrective action reasonably designed to halt the harassment and prevent recurrences, which may include discipline or discharge of the harasser. In addition, University policy is violated by anyone who makes a false accusation of harassment by another person.

Retaliation or discriminating against someone for complaining about harassment is prohibited. Accordingly, witnesses or other individuals who cooperate in a harassment investigation are protected against retaliation. If you believe you have been retaliated against, even if the retaliation is subtle, report this fact immediately to the Director of Human Resources or to any other University representative. Anyone found to have retaliated against an individual because of a harassment complaint or because of cooperation in the investigation of a complaint will be subject to discipline or discharge.

The Director of Human Resources shall be responsible for the coordination, dissemination and implementation of this Policy. The director shall work closely with senior academic and non-academic administrators to assure compliance with the provisions of this Policy and shall serve as a resource with regard to harassment-related matters.

Each vice president, program or office director, department chairperson, administrator and supervisor shall cooperate with the Director of Human Resources in the implementation and dissemination of the Policy and in providing an environment free of harassment. Such officials shall refer complaints arising under this Policy to the Director of Human Resources.

It is the obligation of every faculty and staff member of the University in his/her area of responsibility to adhere to this Policy.

Adopted 2012

Workplace Romantic/Sexual Relationships

For the purposes of this policy, “student” includes all enrolled full or part-time undergraduate and graduate students.

For the purposes of this policy, “employee” includes full and part-time faculty (including adjunct), full and part-time administrative staff, full and part-time support staff and administrators.

Exemption

The following policy does not apply to employees or students who are married or in domestic partnerships (a domestic partnership is defined by Chapter 770 of the Wisconsin Statutes).

Romantic or Sexual Relationships Between Employees and Students

Implicit in the idea of professionalism is the recognition by those in positions of authority that in their relationships with others there is always an element of power. It is incumbent upon those with authority not to abuse, nor to seem to abuse, the power with which they are entrusted. Such relationships have the effect of undermining the atmosphere of trust on which the educational process and work environment depend. Therefore, romantic or sexual relationships are prohibited when they occur between any employee and student.

Even when both parties have consented to the development of such a relationship, it is the employee, by virtue of his or her violation of this policy, who will be held accountable and may be subject to disciplinary action by his or her supervisor(s), up to and including termination.

Romantic or Sexual Relationships Between Employees

Implicit in the idea of professionalism is the recognition by those in positions of authority that in their relationships with others there is always an element of power. It is incumbent upon those with authority not to abuse, nor to seem to abuse, the power with which they are entrusted.

Therefore the University prohibits an evaluative or supervisory relationship between employees where a romantic or sexual relationship exists. Should such a relationship develop, the employees each have the obligation to promptly disclose its existence to any of their supervisors or to Human Resources. The employees’ supervisors, in consultation with Human Resources and with the employees, will determine the appropriate steps to prevent a supervisory or evaluative role between employees in a romantic or sexual relations. Such measures may include potential transfer of one employee, reassignment, or separation from employment.

This policy applies to all employees without regard to the gender, sexual orientation or other protected characteristic of the individuals involved. Even when both parties have consented to the development of such a relationship, both parties will be held accountable for a violation of this policy, and may be subject to disciplinary action by their supervisors, up to and including termination.

Revised December 4, 2017

Gender Based and Sexual Misconduct (Title IX) Policy

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 is a federal law that prohibits sex discrimination in education:

"No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance." Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, and its implementing regulation at 34 C.F.R. Part 106 (Title IX)

Sex discrimination includes sexual harassment, sexual exploitation and sexual assault. It is often thought of as a law that applies exclusively to intercollegiate athletics programs. This is incorrect. In fact, Title IX is much broader than athletics and applies to all programs at Carroll University. While compliance with the law is everyone's responsibility at Carroll, listed below are employees who have primary responsibility for Title IX compliance. If you have a complaint against a staff member or visitor for sexual harassment, sex discrimination, or sexual assault, you should contact the Human Resources Department.

Weapons Policy

All Carroll University employees are prohibited from possessing any firearm or other weapon in the scope of their employment. The only exception to this prohibition is an employee's own locked motor vehicle. Consistent with state and federal law, law enforcement officers may possess and use their service firearm or other lawful weapon on University property.

Adopted September 2011

Alcohol Abuse and Drug-Free Workplace Policy

Purpose and Goal

Carroll University is committed to protecting the safety, health and well-being of all employees and other individuals in our workplace. We recognize that alcohol abuse and drug use pose a significant threat to our goals. We have established a drug-free workplace program that balances our respect for individuals with the need to maintain an alcohol and drug-free environment. This policy is issued by the University to satisfy the University's obligations under the Drug Free Workplace Act of 1988, 41 U.S.C. 702, and the Drug Free Schools and Communities Act Amendments of 1989, 20 U.S.C. 1145g.

Covered by this Policy

Any individual who conducts business for the University, is applying for a position or is conducting business on the University's property is covered by our alcohol abuse, drug-free workplace policy. Our policy includes, but is not limited to all employees, including contract employees, contractors, volunteers, interns and applicants.

Applicability

Our drug-free workplace policy is intended to apply whenever anyone is representing or conducting business for the University. Therefore, this policy applies during all working hours, whenever conducting business or representing the University, while on call, paid standby, while on University property and at University-sponsored events.

Prohibited Behavior

It is a violation of our drug-free workplace policy to unlawfully use, possess, sell, trade, and/or offer for sale alcohol, illegal drugs or intoxicants. The abuse of alcohol or the unlawful manufacture, distribution, dispensation, possession or use of controlled substances is prohibited at the University. The controlled substances prohibited in the workplace include, but are not limited to, marijuana, other hallucinogens, cocaine, heroin, narcotics, amphetamines, and their respective derivative forms or other drugs not prescribed by a licensed physician for the treatment of a current medical disorder. The abuse of prescription medications is also prohibited by this policy. The legal use of prescribed drugs is permitted on the job only if it does not impair an employee's ability to perform the essential functions of the job effectively and in a safe manner for the employee and fellow employees. Employees must abide by this policy as a condition of employment.

Notification of Convictions

Any employee who is convicted of a criminal drug violation or alcohol statute for conduct in the workplace, must report the conviction to the Human Resources Department in writing no later than five calendar days after the conviction.

Any employee who pleads guilty to or otherwise is convicted of driving under the influence of alcohol and who, as an essential function of the employee's job, operates a motor vehicle, machinery or other motorized equipment that could be dangerous to himself/herself or others, will not be permitted to operate such vehicle, machinery or equipment until the employee has undergone an Employee Assistance Plan (EAP) alcohol and/or drug assessment and has complied with all recommended programs. Additionally, to the extent an individual has his/her driver's license revoked or suspended as a result of a conviction or guilty plea to driving under the influence of alcohol, he/she will not be permitted to operate such vehicles until the license is reinstated. The individual may be discharged or may be reassigned to another position during this time period, depending on the circumstances.

An employee so convicted may be subject to immediate suspension or termination. Federal contracting agencies will be notified when appropriate.

Consequences

One of the goals of our drug-free workplace program is to encourage employees to voluntarily seek help with alcohol and/or drug problems. If, however, an individual violates the policy, the consequences are serious.

In the case of applicants, if he or she violates the drug-free workplace policy, the offer of employment can be withdrawn. The applicant may not reapply.

Violations of this University policy, which includes unlawful conduct, will be subject to corrective action, up to and including suspension or termination regardless of classification of employees, depending upon the severity and/or frequency of the violation. Corrective actions will be progressive and applied equally to all employees, with the exception of those employees who actions necessitate immediate and decisive disciplinary measures including suspension or discharge.

Corrective Action per the Employee Manual is normally administered as follows:

Disciplinary and corrective action(s) may be taken by the University at its discretion taking into account the following steps of progressive discipline when appropriate. The level and steps of discipline to take in a particular situation involve evaluation by the University of the severity of the offense, the circumstances associated with the matter under review and the overall work record of the employee. The University's determinations regarding those matters, including a decision to immediately terminate an employee, are exclusive, final and binding. It is not required that each step of progressive discipline be followed in every instance.

Where the University deems it appropriate, the following steps may be taken:

- Oral warning with written documentation to the Human Resources Department and appropriate senior staff member.
- A written warning with a copy of the documentation to the employee, the appropriate senior staff member, immediate supervisor and the Human Resources Department.
- If performance/misconduct problems continue, a second written warning with unpaid suspension of up to three days will be given. Copies of the warning document will be given to the employee, the appropriate senior staff member, immediate supervisor and the Human Resources Department.
- Termination with written documentation to the Human Resources Department and appropriate senior staff member.

Any employee who violates the alcohol and drug abuse policy and is not terminated will be subject to a mandatory Employee Assistance Program (EAP) referral for addiction assessment and will be required to attend, at the employee's expense, a recommended treatment program offered by an outside provider if the assessment indicates treatment is appropriate. An employee who completes any required treatment program must also comply with any after-care program established by the treating facility. Failure to comply with any of the above requirements will result in disciplinary action up to and including suspension or termination.

Assistance

Carroll University recognizes that alcohol and drug abuse and addiction are treatable illnesses. We also realize that early intervention and support improve the success of rehabilitation. To support our employees, our drug-free workplace policy:

- Encourages employees to seek help if they are concerned that they or their family members may have a drug and/or alcohol problem.
- Encourages employees to utilize the services of qualified professionals in the community to assess the seriousness of suspected drug or alcohol problems and identify appropriate sources of help.
- Offers all employees and their family member's assistance with alcohol and drug problems through the Employee Assistance Program (EAP), Lincoln Financial Group.
- The EmployeeConnect services through Lincoln Financial Group are available to all employees and family members of employees.
- Contact <https://www.guidanceresources.com/> (username= LFGsupport; password = LFGsupport1), or talk with a specialist at 888-628-4824 for specific resources available.
- Carroll University allows the use of accrued paid leave while seeking treatment for alcohol and other drug problems.
- Treatment for alcoholism and/or other drug use disorders may be covered by the employee benefit plan. However, the ultimate financial responsibility for recommended treatment belongs to the employee.

Communication

Communicating our drug-free workplace policy to both supervisors and employees is critical to our success. To ensure all employees are aware of their role in supporting our drug-free workplace program:

- This policy is included in the employee manual.
- All employees will receive a written copy of the policy annually via email.

- The policy will be posted on the Human Resources Department Page at “my.carrollu.edu”.
- The policy will be reviewed in orientation sessions with new employees.
- Posters and brochures will be available at all locations.
- Employee education about the dangers of alcohol and drug use and the availability of help will be provided to all employees.

Tobacco-Free Policy

In order to provide a healthy working and living environment for Carroll’s students, staff, faculty and neighbors, Carroll University is a tobacco-free campus. The use of tobacco and electronic nicotine delivery systems is not permitted in university buildings, on university grounds or in university-owned vehicles. There are no designated smoking areas on campus.

Revised April 22, 2014

Family Leave Act

Certain employees may be eligible to take paid or unpaid family or medical leave under federal or Wisconsin law.

Wisconsin law allows employees who have worked at least 1,000 hours in the past 12 months to take the following leaves in a calendar year for one or more of the following reasons:

- Up to six weeks of family leave for the birth or adoption of a child.
- Up to two weeks of leave in a calendar year for the care of a child, spouse, domestic partner, or parent or a parent of a spouse or domestic partner with a serious health condition
- Up to two weeks of medical leave for an employee to care for his/her own serious health condition which renders him/her unable to work.

Federal law allows employees who have worked at least 1,250 hours in the past 12 months to take up to 12 weeks of leave in a calendar year for one or more of the following reasons:

- Family leave for the birth of an employee’s child or because of the placement of a child with the employee for adoption or foster care.
- Family leave to care for a child, spouse, or parent suffering from a serious health condition.
- Medical leave for an employee to care for his/her own serious health condition which renders him/her unable to work
- Military Caregiver Leave for any qualifying exigency arising out of the fact that the employee’s spouse, son, daughter, or parent is a covered military member on “covered active duty”

Federal law allows employees who have worked at least 1,250 hours in the past 12 months to take up to 26 weeks of leave in a calendar year for:

- Military Caregiver Leave to care for a covered service member with a serious injury or illness if the eligible employee is the service member's spouse, son, daughter, parent, or next of kin (military caregiver leave).

Generally, an employee needing to take family leave for birth/adoption/foster care placement should request leave from his/her supervisor at least 30 days in advance of the need. An employee should make reasonable efforts to schedule planned medical treatment so as not to disrupt unduly the operations of the University. Generally, employees should provide at least 30 days' notice for planned medical treatments for themselves or family members, and as much notice as practicable in emergency situations.

You will be required to complete a leave of absence form and a medical certification form which will need to be signed by the health care provider. Failure to return the completed medical certification within 15 days will result in a delay of the leave. These forms are available from the Human Resources Department.

Family and medical leaves are unpaid under federal law. However, your group health insurance and other insurance will remain in effect during the leave as if you continued working. As appropriate, an employee may elect or be required to apply vacation or other accrued compensation during this family or medical leave. As appropriate, an employee on medical leave (for the employee's own serious health condition) may simultaneously be eligible for and receive disability benefits.

Upon return from family or medical leave, an employee will be returned to the position he/she held immediately prior to the leave if the position is vacant. If the position is not vacant, the employee will be placed in an equivalent employment position.

Additional leave beyond the federal or state leave may be granted by the University in its discretion.

This policy provides an introduction to the rights provision of the family and medical leave laws. Questions you may have about this law should be directed to the Human Resources Department.

Revised February 6, 2015

Mass Mailing Policy

Faculty and staff e-mail lists should be used only for University business and official University communications. Use e-mail lists for departmental updates and notices, announcements of University activities, and reminders of deadlines. When similar lists become available in voicemail, the same principle will apply.

Lists of faculty, staff, students, parents, alumni, and donors, such as those taken from computer reports or the Faculty and Staff Directory, are considered privileged information to be used for University business only.

Children at Work Policy

In the interest of the safety and welfare of all, faculty and staff should refrain from bringing their children to work for extended periods of time and/or on a regular basis.

Pets at Work Policy

Due to potential liability issues, faculty and staff should avoid bringing pets to work.

Communications Systems Policy

Carroll University communication systems (including, but not limited to, computers, telephones, fax machines, online computer services, voicemail, e-mail, e-mail aliases) are to be used only for conducting University business. This means that such communication as solicitation of products and services, personal business, offensive, harassing, insulting language, chain letters, pyramid schemes, and time consuming messages is prohibited.

Use of University Employee and Student Information

The Faculty and Staff Directory and lists containing names and addresses of students, parents, faculty, and staff are considered privileged information to be used for University business only. Making available such lists to any off campus person or group or the use of this information for other than University business is prohibited.

Policy on Demonstrations, Including Protests, Marches and Rallies

For the purposes of this policy, “student” includes all enrolled full or part-time undergraduate and graduate students.

For the purposes of this policy, “employee” includes full and part-time faculty (including adjunct), full and part-time administrative staff, full and part-time support staff and administrators.

For the purpose of this policy, the word “demonstration” includes all demonstrations, protests, marches, rallies, leaflet distribution or other activity involving the public display of a group or multiple groups on University property. Please refer to the Policy on Partisan Activity for partisan political events.

This policy applies to all members of the University community defined as students, employees, contracted vendors, volunteers, and their invited guests as well as to those third party individuals or groups visiting the University independent of any specific invitation.

Carroll University supports the right of individual students, recognized student organizations, and employees to dissent and to demonstrate providing such activities do not disrupt normal campus operations, obstruct free access to University buildings, or infringe upon the rights of others. It is the intent of this policy to insure that all demonstrations on campus occur with minimal threat to the safety and security of persons or facilities and with minimal disruption to educational activities through proper planning and scheduling.

The University does not condone behavior that violates the freedom of speech, choice, assembly, or movement of individuals or organizations. In short, responsible dissent carries with it sensitivity for the civil rights of others.

The following guidelines will apply to all demonstrations:

- Demonstrations will be permitted in the following locations, unless the space has previously been reserved by another University department or organization: the Quad Lawn and The Van Male Plaza.
- Persons or their belongings may not block or otherwise interfere with the free flow of vehicular, bicycle or pedestrian traffic. The right of way on streets and sidewalks must be maintained.
- Persons or their belongings may not block or otherwise interfere with ingress and egress into and out of campus buildings.
- Persons or their belongings shall not obstruct, disrupt, interrupt or attempt to force the cancellation of any event or activity sponsored by the University or by any users authorized to use University facilities.
- Persons shall not engage in harassing, physically abusive, threatening or intimidating conduct toward any person.
- Persons shall comply with the directions of any University official acting in the performance of his or her duty.
- Classes or other scheduled activities shall not be disrupted.
- Use of public address systems and amplified sound will not be permitted without prior approval from the Office of Reservations and Event Services. Such approval is contingent upon review of potential impact on classes or other scheduled activities.
- Where an invited speaker is the object of protest, persons may demonstrate outside the building where the speech is taking place. Persons who wish to enter the building must do so as members of the audience, paying admission fees where applicable, and must give the speaker a respectful hearing. Failure to grant the speaker a respectful hearing may result in the offending persons being asked to leave. If they choose not to leave, University Public Safety Officers will escort them out. Signs, placards or similar paraphernalia associated with a demonstration will not be carried into any building.
- The safety and well-being of members of the campus community collectively and individually must be protected at all times. The University maintains the right to define the time, place and manner in which activities occur on campus. The Office of Reservations and Event Services will identify appropriate spaces for planned and spontaneous demonstrations.

- University property must be protected at all times.
- The University reserves the right to require the presence of University Public Safety Officers at any demonstration. In certain circumstances, searches or metal detectors may be used to ensure safety. The costs for these officers are to be paid by the organization holding the demonstration.
- Persons engaging in activities on University property are subject to and expected to comply with all applicable University policies and procedures.
- Persons who are not students or employees, may participate in demonstrations, rallies, or equivalent activities only upon invitation by a student or employee.

This policy does not supersede any local, state or federal laws and regulations. Members of the University community that plan a demonstration and fail to follow outlines procedures will be referred to the appropriate governing or discipline body. Since organizations and persons who are not students, recognized student organizations, or employees of the University are not subject to University discipline procedures, failure to comply with this policy may result in action under terms of local and State law, as appropriate.

Guidelines for Scheduled Demonstrations

Registered student organizations or other campus constituents that wish to schedule a demonstration, rally, or equivalent activity, may request the space through the regular reservation procedure up to forty-eight (48) hours in advance.

Guidelines for Unscheduled Demonstrations

Occasionally, events occur which demand immediate public outcry, and it is not the intent of this policy to limit the University community's rights to protest such events. However, it is inappropriate for events which have been planned to circumvent the policies by claiming to be spontaneous. Because prior approval from the Office of Reservation and Events Services is not possible for unscheduled demonstrations, the use of public address systems or amplified sound is prohibited for unscheduled demonstrations.

Revised March 14, 2016

Policy on Partisan Political Activity

In order to ensure Carroll's compliance with the restrictions placed on the University as a tax-exempt organization, members of the University community must adhere to the following guidelines:

- When endorsing or opposing a candidate for political office or taking a position on an issue for the purpose of assisting or opposing a candidate, individuals and groups within Carroll University must make it clear that they are speaking only for themselves and not the University.
- Carroll University's name and insignia may not be used on stationery or other documents intended for political purposes, including soliciting funds for political support or carrying on a political campaign.

- Funds or other contributions may not be solicited in the name of Carroll University for political support or carrying on a political campaign.
- Carroll employees may not perform tasks related to partisan political activities during working hours.
- The following may not be used for political campaign purposes:
 - The University's mailing resources;
 - University mailing lists-including the addresses and e-mail addresses of students, faculty, staff, emeriti and alumni;
 - University-provided office supplies, computers, telephones, facsimile machines, copiers, etc.;
 - The University's sales tax exemption for purchases of goods and services.

Partisan Political Campaign Events on Campus

When a University organization composed of University faculty, staff, students and other representatives sponsors a partisan political campaign event, there are a number of considerations to keep in mind:

- University organizations may reserve through the Office of Reservations and Event Services available University building space (University facilities regularly reserved for student use and other University space such as lecture halls and meeting rooms) to engage in partisan political activities within the University community, provided that such organizations:
 - Pay for the costs of such activities and
 - Pay rental fees for the use of such facilities that they would otherwise be charged. University funds, including student organization budgets, may not be used for campaign materials.
- No campaign fund-raising is allowed.
- A disclaimer must be included in all written materials and advertising, and announced at the beginning of all events: "Carroll University does not support or oppose any political candidates. The views expressed are those of [the candidate or other partisan political speaker] only. The [Carroll-related group] is sponsoring this event." The distribution of written materials must be limited to time and location of the event.
- Organizations that are composed of non-University members, participants or employees are ineligible to use University space to engage in partisan political campaign activities.
- Certain non-partisan political activities (such as properly organized voter registration activities, voter education programs, and candidate debates) may be permissible if they do not evidence a preference for or opposition to a political party or to candidates who have taken a particular position.
